

“Hi-Wire Loves” Series is a way for us to work (play) with some of our favorite breweries from around the Southeast. But really it’s just an excuse to hangout, find common ground, and brew some inspired beer collaborations with some great people. Our collab with Flying Machine out of Wilmington, NC is a Domestic Pale Ale hopped with Sabro, Citra, and Cashmere brewed with Golden Naked Oats and rice. A nod to where craft beer began in the U.S., this nostalgic pale ale is a modern take and features some big tropical fruit aromas courtesy of juicy hops with a balanced bitterness and crisp finish.
